

(a) Consciousness

(b) Chakras

What this shows: how the separation between factual and non-factual answers changes while replaying each conversation. Generic questions should remain stable; a negative context-relevant margin means conversation-specific answers have inverted along the learned factuality direction.